

In regard to your "Localism" campaign: KLOVE runs on a translator service, and I may not receive their signal if you allow LPFM stations to take priority over current FM translator services. KLOVE is an important part of my life: it's the only radio station I, or my family, listen to. When we moved from Virginia this year, it was reassuring that KLOVE was available in Nebraska too. The radio station serves me as a resident of this, my local community. A lot of my neighbors and the teens in my neighborhood listen to this family-friendly station. I believe losing KLOVE would influence our area in a negative way. I also believe having access to KLOVE benefits the public's interest here in Omaha--it provides us with variety, something that a local radio station couldn't provide.
